BUILDING END-USE

Community Church

Restoration Community Church of Charleston is committed to reaching individuals within the community and providing a home church for those in need. In order to accommodate the growing church body, the ministry chose a Kirby pre-engineered metal building for their needs.

The 21,874 square foot clear span structure incorporates multiple buildings connected through the main church. Featuring a hipped roof entry garbed with Kirby Roof-Lok Vertical Rib Standing Seam panels, the new build includes a 400 seat worship center, a 200 seat children's ministry center, an administrative center and an expansive central foyer with a café that allows for additional fellowship outside of the sanctuary. KirbyWall panels were utilized to further enhance the exterior wall appearance.
